

Not-for-profit certificate programs

Set yourself apart.

When it comes to accounting and financial reporting, not-for-profits (NFPs) have unique requirements, such as accounting for pledges and restricted vs. unrestricted donations. The AICPA not-for-profit certificate programs give your staff the skills they need.

Delivered through an award-winning e-learning interface, the self-paced courses can be completed any time, anywhere. They include real-world examples, case studies, animations and videos for an engaging learning experience.

Successful completion results in a certificate and a digital badge to display online. See the next page for more detailed information on the NFP certificate programs.

Recommended for not-for-profit staff and board members to:

- Increase understanding of the not-for-profit financial environment
- Demonstrate a commitment to fiscal responsibility to stakeholders
- Improve work quality and efficiency
- Use the course content for reference, ideas, and best practices
